1. Stand alone application that can be deployed in local machine. 2. A total web enabled application.

Riverlog Software

BioBuilder 7.5 standalone application provides an easy-to-use total modeling and if needed (payroll processing, visa processing etc) data entry form for office staff with no computer qualification. It comes with facilities to load large volumes of data and that can be extracted automatically from resume's with all the details exactly as it is in the word format. This avoids people to type in data. These makes BioBuilder-DT a software that can generate high returns on investment.
